Norwich Bulletin, Willimantic Office, 23 Church St. Telephone 105.

What is Going On Tonight.

Ancient Order of United Workmen, Willimantic Lodge, No. 11, meets at 140 Valley street.

Knights of Columbus, San Jose Council, No. 14, meets at 761 Main street.

Royal Arcanum, Willimantic Council No. 721, meets at 702 Main street.

A joint meeting of the street committee and the special committee appointed by the common council to investigate the matter of fares charged by public service autos in the city was held in the council chamber on Monday evening.

The matter of parking cars along Main street was also discussed. There has been a wide variance in the rates which have been charged by local public service cars for traffic within the city limits.

Charges vary from ten to fifty cents and in certain cases have amounted to much more. The matter case was also one of importance as the merchants claim that the parking of public service cars in front of their places of business is injurious to their trade.

It also constitutes a fire hazard. City Engineer Robert Mitchell and Corporation Counsel William A. King were present at the hearing. A number of drivers of the public service cars appeared and gave their side of the case. The committee will report at the next council meeting.

The police court had the most business Monday morning. It has had since the demise of the late J. R. Barlow, Esq. However, none of the cases were due to a resurrection of the aforementioned gentleman.

Carl A. Lunden, who while driving a state highway department truck, struck a team on Main street Saturday afternoon, was charged with violation of the rules of the road. Lunden had settled for the damage which the team incurred, so the case was nolleed on payment of costs amounting to $4.80.

Alexander Jewell, pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault against Toney Aeschke, a soldier on leave from Camp Dix. According to the testimony of the soldier and his father, Jewell, a poor opinion of soldiers in general and then hit the soldier in the face. Jewell told quite a different story but he was fined $5 and costs amounting to $18.40.

Sophie Mucard and Max Girouard were charged with fornication but they agreed to get married and the case was nolleed.

Beaura Varac was released on bonds of $150 to appear in court Saturday morning in answer to a charge of non-support of his mother, an old child, Joseph.

August and Ethel Roy pleaded not guilty to a charge of vagrancy and were placed on probation. They were found Sunday morning by Officer McLean, sleeping in a covered wagon in a shed belonging to Ruel Hyde. Roy claimed that he had permission to sleep there and had slept there for several nights. He said that he tried to send his wife home when she came to him there Saturday night but that she refused, and although they had intended to sit up all night they had fallen to sleep.

A party of boys from the Y. M. C. A. will take an all day hike Thursday in charge of Physical Director A. A. Martin. It is planned to leave the city at 8 o'clock and return at 6 o'clock. The hike will take their lunch, fishing tackle and baseball paraphernalia.

An effort is being made to interest local young men in the Y. M. C. A. camp at Eastford for two weeks, from Aug. 2 to Aug. 16. The local Boy Scouts have just returned from a very successful camp at the proposed site, which is on Crystal Lake the Girl Scouts are now at the camp for two weeks. The camp site is an ideal one and has the added advantage of being sheltered from the wind by a shanty which served to cook in during rainy weather. About a dozen fellows have already declared their intention of attending such a camp if it can be arranged and at least as many more names are wanted.

The schedule for the industrial baseball league for the week is as follows: Tuesday, Manufacturers vs. Dye Works; Thursday, No. 1 Shipping and Office vs. Smith-Winchester Co.; Saturday, Mills 5 and 6 vs. Up Street Mills.

Lee Wing, "Charlie," the dean of Willimantic's Chinese laundrymen, who has been in the restaurant business in Norwich, has purchased his old business here and will return to this city. Charlie was very popular here. He is married and has five children, three of whom are married, one in Canada and one in Bermuda. His father and mother are still living in China and Charlie is their main support.

About eighty of the hundred and fifty two residential cottages at the Willimantic Camp Ground are open and from all appearances every cottage will be opened in advance of the meeting season this year. Superintendent Walter stated that the outlook is the best for a number of years. George Brooks has been engaged to operate the restaurant and store which, as in former years, will be conducted by the camp association.

Willimantic had its first Sunday movie last Sunday evening. A large crowd turned out for the one house that was open and one of the other two houses is to open for next Sunday. Only pictures were shown and apparently the innovation met with public favor.

Monday afternoon Undertaker Jay M. Shepard sent the body of Mrs. Bertha L. Banks to her former home in Parishville, N. Y. Mrs. Banks died in Andover Sunday morning, following a brief illness. She was born in Parishville, N. Y., Oct. 2, 1861, the daughter of Stephen and Fannie Hawthorne Leslie. She is survived.

Tan, Red or Freckled Skin Is Easily Shed

To free your summer-soiled skin of freckles, blotches, or tan, the best thing to do is to free yourself of the skin itself. This is easily accomplished by the use of ordinary mercurized wax, which of course can be had at any drug store. Use at night as you use cold cream, washing it off in the morning. Immediately the offending surface skin begins to come off in the powder-like particles usually the entire outer skin is removed in a convenient manner. The second layer of skin now in evidence presents a spotless, healthy and sparkling beauty obtainable in no other way. One ounce of mercurized wax usually is sufficient to completely renovate a bad complexion.

Friends of Capt. Howard T. Byles have received word that he expects to be back from overseas by the first of August. He was captain in the 392d field artillery, which left Norwich for overseas in 1918. After reaching France he soon had 140 men added to his battery, which was under severe strain during August and September. In October they were ordered to the front about ten miles south of Verdun. It was a problem for the battery to get the men to the front on a special train that he had charge of, and after a long, tiresome ride they reached their destination at midnight in a pouring rain. They could look ahead and see and hear the firing of the enemy in the valley below.

After a gunnery drill in position the next night at midnight they fired their first shot and every night following they bombarded the enemy. The enemy failed to open fire, firing only a few shots at a small village just beyond.

One morning orders came to move forward to the valley below. Within 1500 yards of the enemy. While he and another captain were placing their guns in position occasionally a few wild shots came up from the ground near them. From the time the infantry advanced until the signing of the armistice the firing was severe. One captain of his battery was severely gassed and fell over unconscious five minutes before the armistice was signed. Captain Byles was injured, though others in his battery were killed and wounded. How he was spared he could not understand.

In December he was appointed commanding officer of several batteries and his battery returned from overseas in April. In March he was one of the 5,000 American soldiers that received an appointment to attend one of the 14 universities in France for a four months' course. He was appointed president of the American unit and later was sent as a delegate to a conference held in Paris where Americans from all of the universities were present.

They voted to start a drive for $20,000 for the American students of the universities of France for a scholarship, that one French soldier from each university in Providence was given two years' course in one of our universities. Bordeaux university was one of the first to go over the top.

On July 1st Captain Byles was given a permit for a 12 days' tour in England and Scotland, after which he expected to sail for America.

POETRY

THE OLD MELODY

There, like some ancient minstrel,
Of yore, he sang a welcome
Its yellow keys a welcome
Extending to the hands,
No finger swayed over the keys,
No foot its pedals pressed,
"Soft of the sound of the keys,
It waits some hand to press."

It leans against the chamber wall
Like some old broken form,
Too weak to stand alone without
Assistance in the effort,
Its bellows gasping wide in hung
Sustained chords that stir the
The dust upon its yellow keys
Is strewn thickly o'er.

Ah, in the stillness of the night
The ancient thing it grieves,
And plinks in echo to the soft,
Low whisper of the leaves,
Then from the lonely chamber float
Sweet tones of music from
A spirit song from spirit throat
Chorused by spirit hand.

But when the light of morning falls
In glory, the old melody
The dust upon the yellow keys
Is strewn thickly there,
From the old melody came
To spell away the gloom:
And passing, left behind the same
Sweet tones of music from
And some of man's immortal dream.

—Horse Seymour Keller, in the New York Sun.

EARTH IS ENOUGH.
The men of Earth have here the stuff
To build a Paradise,
We need no other stones to build
The Temple of the Unfulfilled—
No other marble for the floors—
No other cedar for the beams
And some of man's immortal dream.

—Edwin Markham.
